Executive Proclamation

Office of the Governor

Whereas, The notable accomplishments of special South Dakotans deserve recognition; and,

Whereas, Maynard Greenfield graduated from Springfield College in 1963 with a degree in drafting, began working for the South Dakota Department of Transportation that same year in the Office of Planning & Programs, and during his tenure, which has spanned 5 decades, he has continued his professional development in several positions within the department; and,

Whereas, Maynard's high-standards for himself and zeal for perfectionism in his work have set exemplary values for all employees to strive toward; and,

Whereas, His unwavering professionalism and good nature have been hallmarks of his time with the department; and,

Whereas, Maynard's passion for the shooting sports has helped hone his tack driving accuracy in preparing on-target project cost estimates, and his quick-draw is only surpassed by the quick smile shared with everyone he meets; and,

Whereas, Many a co-worker has been exposed to Maynard's hospitality by being invited to the annual lutefisk supper in Pierre, with many of those same people continuing to call him a good friend; and,

Whereas, On April 8, 2004, our good friend, Maynard, is retiring:

Now, Therefore, I, M. Michael Rounds, Governor of the state of South Dakota, do hereby proclaim April 8, 2004, as in South Dakota, and I join his co-workers, family, and friends in congratulating him on this well-earned retirement and wishing him a long, healthy, peaceful, and enjoyable retirement.

In Witness Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the Great Seal of the state of South Dakota, in Pierre, the Capital City, this Thirty-first Day of March in the Year of Our Lord, Two Thousand and Four.

M. Michael Rounds, Governor

Attest:

Chris Nelson, Secretary of State
